

Fire Board, serving as Chairman in 2010 through 2011.

Jay joined the council with a willingness to learn everything, a determination to probe staff reports and to deliver for the residents of Hillsborough. I have heard how Jay saved the town $1 million on a computer system purchase by challenging the cost.

Jay became the city's expert on water issues when he was appointed to a local agency charged with serving the interests of Peninsula cities receiving water from San Francisco's Hetch Hetchy system. Hillsborough owns its own water system but is reliant on the Hetch Hetchy system for water. There have been a few droughts and numerous public policy challenges, including an expensive capital improvement program, during Jay's tenure. He is described as having a "passion" for water. He is quick to point out opportunities to operate better and always well prepared for the agency's meetings.

Twice per year, Hillsborough's civic leadership gathers to compare notes and to coordinate. Present are leaders from public and private schools, the town, nonprofits and civic organizations of various types, and interested citizens. The convocation is known as the Hillsborough Community Roundtable and its purpose is to let everyone know about the plans for civic events and government services for the next six months. Jay Benton has presided over this semi-annual meeting and won accolades from all involved because he is both a good listener and, not surprisingly, a good leader.

Jay Benton is the devoted husband of Ann and they have been married since October 7, 1967. They have five children: Bill (Susan), Tom (Jane), Jim (Mari), Jenny, and Andy (Morgan). Jay also has ten grandchildren. On December 13, 2020, the day before he steps down from the city council, Jay will turn 80 years old, yet another example of age not being a liability in public life.

Madam Speaker, Jay Benton will leave with the city's finances strong, its capital stock well maintained, its spirits high despite the challenge of the current pandemic, and the future of the community well charted for many years to come. In Jay, the town has a leader who stood the test of time. His neighbors, friends and constituents wish Jay, in the hopeful language of naval adventurers, fair winds and following seas. It has been my privilege to serve with Jay Benton, a great local leader.

HONORING TRENT YACONELLI

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 14, 2020

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor and recognize Trent Yaconelli, the Executive Director of St. Helena and Calistoga Boys & Girls Club.

Trent Yaconelli was born in La Mesa, California, and grew up in Yreka, California. In 1993, he graduated from Sonoma State University with a Bachelor of Arts in Teacher Education. He has also received a Non-Profit Management Certification from The University of Texas at Austin in 2012. Mr. Yaconelli has used his education to aid his community through times of hardship, serving as the Executive Director of the Boys & Girls Club since 2017. Before serving as Executive Director, Mr. Yaconelli had served on the Club's staff for more than 20 years and as Associate Executive Director for four and half years.

Drawing on his years of community service, Mr. Yaconelli has shown an immense capacity to exercise moral leadership and empathy through natural disasters and on-going adversity. He worked with the Club staff to deliver more than 25,000 meals to the community, day-to-day, during the devastating Glass Fire. Recognizing that many of the people who were affected by the fire had lost their homes and were ineligible to receive disaster relief funds, Mr. Yaconelli worked with the Club to distribute more than $70,000 in direct gifts to fifteen club families. Particularly, he helped distribute three cars to families that lost their vehicles in the fire, along with an additional $15,000 in individual grants to help them get back on their feet.

Trent Yaconelli's tireless work over these past fourteen years should not go unnoticed. The support that he has given to the families and children of Calistoga and St. Helena has undoubtedly improved the livelihood of his community. In this spirit, Mr. Yaconelli is currently serving the students of the St. Helena Unified School District while they are participating in distance learning. His encompassing knowledge of his community continues to serve the youth and the families that need him the most.

Madam Speaker, Trent Yaconelli exemplifies strong integrity and leadership through his dedication to public service. It is therefore fitting and proper that we honor him here today.

COMMEMORATING THE LIFE OF TONY LEE

HON. PRAMILA JAYAPAL

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 14, 2020

Ms. JAYAPAL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the memory of longtime Seattle resident Tony Lee, who died on November 12, 2020. Over his more than 30-year career, Tony had a deep and personal impact on our community. He leaves behind a tremendous legacy of dedicated public service.

Tony Lee was a kind-hearted friend, activist and advocate, and a devoted family member. He was humble and wise. Those of us lucky enough to have known him will forever remember his booming, infectious laugh.

Tony joined the Seattle community at a young age, when he immigrated to the United States from China via Brazil with his family. He went on to graduate from Harvard and earn a law degree from the University of Washington. Upon starting his career as a lawyer, Tony quickly found his true calling: civil rights advocacy.

Tony began his career as an attorney for Evergreen Legal Services, representing the needs of indigent clients as well as immigrants and refugees. He later served as the Advocacy Director for Solid Ground, where he led the anti-poverty, anti-racist organization's work to save cash assistance programs for people with disabilities and mental illness, expand Medicaid to cover dental care, and overcome housing discrimination in Washington State over 21 years. He is widely recognized for his leadership in creating and maintaining critical safety net services for immigrant and refugee communities, making Washington State a shining example for immigrant inclusion nationwide.

Tony's advocacy and activism stretched well beyond his formal work positions, putting him frequently at the forefront of important efforts and movements. Among these, Tony fought for rent control, on peace and social justice issues and for economic justice. He helped found the Statewide Poverty Action Network and create the Food Assistance Program, which promotes expanding public benefits and broadening the safety net for low-income people in Washington State. He served as a leader with the Equity in Education Commission, the King County Chapter of the Asian Pacific Islander Coalition, Seattle Human Services Coalition, Church Council of Greater Seattle, the Washington Association of Churches, and the Catholic Archdiocese.

Even after his semi-retirement in 2014, Tony could still be found advocating in the halls of the Washington State Legislature, where he was, in the words of Representative Frank Chopp, the "conscience of Washington State."

I had the pleasure of working with Tony over the more than decade I spent organizing for immigrant rights, doing lobby days in the state capitol, advocating for poor people and the most vulnerable and fighting for immigrants and refugees, and there was simply no one who knew the subject matter better or was more devoted than Tony Lee.

Tony will be dearly missed, and his tremendous legacy promoting a more just and kind Seattle will continue to grow through the communities and lives he touched. He is survived by his wife, Angela Bartels; former wife, Sharon Lee; his son, Chris; siblings Bernadette, Cecilia, Joe, Marie, and Mary; and many nieces and nephews.

For his years of dedicated and compassionate service. I am proud to express my deep appreciation for Tony Lee and his advocacy for the most vulnerable members of our community. My heart is with his loved ones during this difficult time. May he rest in power.

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 14, 2020

Mr. WITTMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today in recognition of Joe Schumacher in honor of his 20 years of dedicated public service to Virginia's First Congressional District. Joe began his service to Virginia's First District with my predecessor, Congresswoman Jo Ann Davis, and has been with my office for the entirety of my time in Congress as well. I would like to take this time to recognize Joe's milestone of 20 years with Virginia's First District.
